Ágnes Heller

philosopher introduces to the English speaking community

László Bitó's

newest bestseller:

The Gospel of Anonymus

/Absolving all men of the most Hideous Crime of Deicide/

This bilingual edition contains side by side the original English text that appeared in the US earlier this year, and the Hungarian text in István Tótfalusi's translation.

Thus it allows the readers to broaden their vocabulary.

This program will be in English in the The Writer's Bookshop

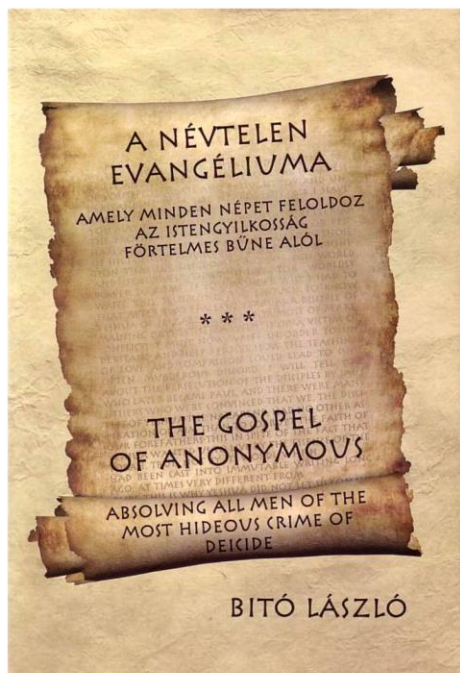

Írók Boltja, Budapest VI. District, Andrassy út 45 on October 27 at 4 pm.

Followed by book signing.

Those who buy on this occasion two copies at 2,000 Ft each, get one, or one of the authors earlier books free.

Think of your friends and the upcoming holidays!

The apocryphal gospel that defeats the fundamental thesis of anti-Semitism

“This apocryphal gospel story, Absolving All Men Of The Most Hideous Crime Of Deicide, is for those who thirst for a past that can bring peace and understanding between creeds and can lead to a brighter future.”

– Jeffrey Sussman, author and critic.

“Bitó’s book is a delightful read and imaginative corrective to the real threat of modern anti-Semitism.”

– The Rev. Chloe Breyer, Executive Director, The Inter-faith Center of N.Y.

“[This is a] sympathetic projection into the personalities and motivations of the people involved...and the result is a richly rewarding reappraisal.”

– Bruce Chilton, Bernard Iddings Bell Professor of Religion Bard College, New York
